No modern finished home is complete without a bedroom of American Walnut. Favored, indeed, is the guest to whom is assigned this chamber of delight.

The graceful lines of the different pieces will please you. Also the handy drawers in Chiffonier and Dresser. The dust-proof construction, the smoothness in which they run and the fine quality of French plate mirrors you will appreciate.

And then, you'll be surprised when we tell you how little the expense will be to put these pieces in your home. If this suite is not just what you have in mind, come in and see the many other patterns and designs in various woods and finishes that we have in stock.

Arthur G. Parks of Pleasant street, who was called to Hyde Park early in the week by the death of his brother, Albert Parks, returned to the city yesterday. His father, Deputy Sheriff George W. Parks, is remaining in Boston for a more extended sojourn.

Funeral services for Albert Parks were held in Hyde Park Tuesday, and interment was in that place.

Barre friends of Dr. J. E. McSweeney of Hartford, Conn., a former resident of Barre, will regret to learn of his serious illness, as the result of a surgical operation which he recently underwent in Hartford. Dr. McSweeney, prior to the operation, had been suffering with a growth in the ear, and while the operation was regarded as successful, complications developed, and the patient has not rallied sufficiently to overcome them as yet.

Mrs. S. E. Laviolette, who is spending a few days in New York and Boston, buying spring goods, will reopen her millinery parlor March 28 with a full line of new hats for Easter. Will be glad to welcome all her old friends and customers, who have stood so well by her in the past, and wishes to thank them for their patronage, which she hopes they will continue to extend to her during the coming spring season.—adv.

Interest in the movement to establish a deer park in Barre does not lag, although it lacks organization and two or three persons who have offered to assist in the project are at a loss to learn who is sponsoring the plan. There is plenty of enthusiasm over the project, and on its own momentum the plan has gone so far as to elicit an offer of a site for the park. Another plot suggested for the deer is on Averill terrace, where there is running water and natural shelter for deer.

Something of the importance of conservation and other methods to make the world "safe for democracy" is signified in posters made by the pupils in the fourth to eighth grades in the city schools. Several of the posters are being displayed in the windows of the Tilden shoe store and the B. W. Hooker & Co. store, while a great deal of comment concerning the artistic ability of the pupils has been centered on the posters displayed.

The army at Montpelier looks up as the most likely place for staging the championship game between the Burlington high school and Spaulding high school for the state interscholastic league championship, as the result of a conference between Principal Jackson of Spaulding and the management of the Burlington team yesterday forenoon. It is likely that the game will be played next Friday, although no definite arrangements have yet been completed.

C. F. Smith was in Northfield yesterday, holding an auction sale for C. P. Hatch, administrator of the estate of John Ross, farm stock and tools. The farm is located six miles from Northfield on the west hill, John Maloney of Northfield purchased the farm at $4,900. Seventeen grade cows, a mixed lot, but looking very well with one exception sold from $65 to $107 and averages a little above $80. Young stock, horses and hogs, general farm tools and sugar tools brought good prices, as there was a large crowd in attendance.

The people of Armenia, Syria, Palestine and the Greek colonies are our allies. They never would have suffered the massacres and atrocities of the unspeakable Turks but for this war among their protectors in Europe. This war is now our war. This fight is our fight. These people suffer because of our war. If we have any obligation to France or England, the same situation requires us to share their obligation to Armenia and to these people who are dying of hunger and can only be relieved by the Barre solicitors calling on you next week a generous offering.

Forty stars are to adorn the service flag which Clan Gordon will unfurl with appropriate exercises on the evening of Friday, March 29. The flag has arrived and with it most of the stars, although recent inquiries have developed information of additional clansmen who are in the allied service and extra stars will be necessary. Arrangements for the affair are in charge of the clan entertainment committee, and tickets have been issued for a concert, to consist largely of patriotic numbers, and a dance, with music by Carroll's orchestra. City Clerk James Mackay, senior past chief of the clan, will be the principal speaker at the dedicatory exercises. As their guests, the clansmen will entertain the members of the ladies' auxiliary to the clan.

For some hundred passengers, life on the Barre branch, as epitomized by the abominable service between this city and Montpelier, lost its tiny modicum of joy yesterday afternoon when the passenger train due to reach the local station at 1:20 lost more than an hour in waiting for freight maneuvers to end. To many of those aboard the train, the delay was a source of interest, as the train was divided into several segments, each of which was hauled by the locomotive as far south as the yards, where the passengers beguiled the time by unpleasant reference to those in authority. A small band of weary waiters attempted a crossing of the river with the intention of boarding a trolley car, but high water defeated their purpose and they resigned themselves to exploring the neighborhood for signs of a farmer boiling sap. The train wheeled into the station at 2:30.

More Than One Might Expect

A visit now to most Coat and Suit shops brings out striking facts. Tailoring, as it was before the war called the man-tailors, can only be had at the highest prices. Just the right kind of tailoring and finish are hard to find in many departments. Colors show the effect of a shortage of dyes. Fabrics that are really All-Wool are scarce.

It is good to know, in the face of these conditions, that the Coat or Suit you buy is All Wool: that the manufacturers have had the foresight and resources to minimize the war conditions.

See our line of stunning Coats and Suits tailored in the new, authentic, slender lines of to-day.

In the Suits you will find models that are built for service and style. Suits that are made along conservative lines, with a fullness at the waist line and a style that will appeal to all. Miss Rachel Hollister, a member of the graduating class of Goddard seminary, gave a piano recital in the chapel hall last evening which was attended by a large gathering of friends from the city as well as by a crowd of classmates and underclassmen. She was assisted by Miss Natalie Jameson, soprano, and Fred Lacasse, violinist, both of whom are students at the seminary. A synopsis of the program was given by Miss Lease, the head of the piano department, which served to make the program much more interesting. Miss Hollister played selections from Bach, Beethoven, Chopin, Schumann, Kreisler and Macdowell which differed widely in motive, but in them all she showed that she had mastered the thought and sufficient technique to portray it. Her performance was very gratifying to her many friends. Miss Jameson sang several numbers, including a delightful French love song by Chaminade. Mr. Lacasse played a sonata by Chopin and delighted all by his brilliant, pure tone and breadth of interpretation.

Under the caption, "Record Knitter at Eighty-one," the Boston Transcript tells of the knitting achievements of Mrs. Laura C. Holmes, a former resident of Barre, and the grandmother of Mrs. William Jack of Keith avenue. Of Mrs. Holmes, who has been a frequent visitor in this city since her departure, the Transcript says: "Mrs. Laura C.
